

Princeton Prospect Foundation Meeting IVY CLUB

Update Compiled by Katie Dykstra, Vice-President

Community Service

- Money collection by members to collectively donate to our staff for pandemic aid
- Plans to help coordinate ESL program and curriculum for eating club staff
- Many Ivy members are involved in community service through their athletic teams and other affiliations
- Plans to introduce an actionable and metric-based sustainability program at Ivy next year, intended to reduce food waste and electricity usage and to increase recycling

- In a normal academic year, Ivy would have participated in the street-wide TruckFest event to help support food security charities in the Trenton and wider New Jersey area as well as Fashion Speaks, a fashion show with proceeds going to Eden Autism Services. We plan to coordinate COVID-safe alternatives for the coming semester.

Intellectual Growth

- Strong club-wide attendance of the Ivy Implicit Bias Training led by Carls A. Field Center Fellows in the week prior to bicker
- Intensified efforts towards DEI initiatives
 - Moving forward, we have plans to implement infrastructure to support DEI conversations and initiatives within the club on a regular basis, such as roundtable discussions and professional speakers.
- Upcoming series of Ivy Club roundtable discussions via Zoom
 - March 9th we will be having Dr. Barbara Römer for our first discussion. Dr. Römer is an art curator and strategy consultant who specializes in developing cultural visions for cities, with clients ranging from Miami to Riyadh.
